Rock-Solid Reliability for Warehousing

Running outfitter Fleet Feet uses data-driven insights to outfit runners with the ideal shoes, apparel, and gear. They've experienced exponential growth over the last decade, expanding to 250 stores (and counting) across the country and working toward their vision: to inspire the runner in everyone. Fleet Feet powers their temporary warehouse staffing with Jobble's all-in-one staffing platform that helps businesses connect with the workers they need.

“In this line of work, weeks can be an eternity when you're short staffed. Jobble is able to support us in a pinch. We always know we can rely on Jobble for a quick turnaround and have workers show up when we need them the most.”

– Anthony Pendola (Fleet Feet)

CHALLENGES

Rapid Growth: Needed an immediately scalable staffing solution to support rapid growth in new warehouse facilities, in new locations where workers had never been hired before.

Onboarding Delays: Needed a way to quickly find, manage, and hire temporary workers without committing to full onboarding, which oftentimes resulted in a six-week onboarding period between when a worker was first interviewed and started on-site.

Vetting Workers: Needed a reliable staffing platform to source, confirm, and vet temporary workers, with the expectation that best-suited Jobblers would turn into full-time employees over time.
